Hitler, Socrates, Trever as Referee In Battle of Wits

Lawrence Professor Presents Imaginary Dialogue in Convocation

An imaginary dialogue between Hitler and the shade of Socrates was given by A. A. Trever, professor of ancient and European history, at convocation last Friday, February 17.

The dialogue took place at Hitler's retreat and in "the dead of night, following the first recent Nazi attack on the Jews." Socrates appears to Hitler in a dream, and immediately the Fuehrer very indignantly complains about the manner in which Socrates greets him, demanding a "Heil Hitler" and a salute. But Socrates tells Hitler that he doesn't believe Hitler merits such a salutation applicable only to the deity and points out that the Greeks too had "leaders" but that they called them "tyrants."

Italian Pact Only Temporary

Hitler then acclaims himself the real leader of the pure blooded Germans, the finest and purest race in the world. Socrates tries to reason with him, to show him how incorrect he is in assuming the superiority and purity of the Nordic race. When Hitler calls

Tom Temple Is Featured at Greek Ball Saturday Night

Musical background for the Lawrence annual Interfraternity ball to be held on Saturday evening, February 25, will be furnished by Tom Temple and his orchestra, favorite Lawrence campus band. Bob Stocker, student social chairman, has announced that the Alexander gymnasium will be decorated with a special set of fraternity crests for this gala affair.

Temple's band features three vocalists, Harriet Cleland, Marion Brennon, and tenor Les Smith, who also slaps a mean bass fiddle. Miss Cleland and Smith also sing several duet specialties. The popular maestro is noted for his unusual arrangements of "classic" jazz numbers, and Lawrence socialites may request their current favorites from Temple's unusually large repertoire, for the program will be an all-request one. His unusual arrangements will be no surprise for students who heard him at the Homecoming convocation in the fall and at the DeMolay Pre-Lenten ball recently.

Because the occasion is the annual Interfraternity ball, women will dress formally, but dress for men will be informal.

Guests who have been invited to attend include President and Mrs.

Garbed in traditional Colonial costumes, Mary Forest, Esther Fritz, Betty Ann Johnson, Betty Morrison, and Janet Weber were presented as the five Best-Loved senior women at the annual Lawrence Women's association Colonial banquet Wednesday evening at Brokaw hall. The annual poll was conducted in convocation Friday to determine the women who were to don the traditional costumes.

After the favored women finished a minuet in the Brokaw dining room to the tune of surprised "ohs" and "ahs," Betty White, newly elected L. W. A. president and toastmistress for the affair, introduced the Best-Loved women and their mothers. Marion Humleker, member of last year's Best-Loved group, toasted the new 1939 members.

Lawrence A Cappella Choir Wins Acclaim at Difficult Annual Concert in Appleton

By Elwin Wienandt

The Lawrence A Cappella choir, under the inspiring leadership of Dean Carl J. Waterman, has again come through its most difficult test, the home concert, with considerably more than moderate success. It is gratifying that an Appleton audience, to which we award a burlap medal for its musical inertia, should finally come out of its sleep long enough to see that we really have something.

The four "Songs of Conquest" by Harold McDonald, which comprised half of the second group of the program, were quite a shock to many people in the audience, and are still, no doubt, a mystery to many of them—especially those people who talked during their performance. These songs represented the only serious American music upon the program. The music was vigorous and even strident in sections. Built upon a bare harmonic structure which contrasted it sharply to the preceding Russian Church music, it was the type of thing which catches an audience off guard. However, the harsh outlines of the melody were most admirably suited to the text and expressively sung by the choir.

Gerlach Impressive

Don Gerlach knocked a high percentage of good notes out of the Steinway during the final group, but he did his most impressive work in the Polovetzian Dances from "Prince Igor" by Borodin. These are a group of choral cuttings from the opera and are set off from each other by the colorful dances. Although the dances were originally scored for full orchestra, Gerlach turned in a very good performance with a piano reduction of the original.

It was during the final group that Dean Waterman gave free reign to his showmanship. Several years ago he broke away from the traditional black robes for the final group of songs and substituted formal evening dress. This year he went one step further and arranged informal grouping of the choir for the climax of his program. The colored lights which proved so effective during the entire program were arranged by F. Theodore Cloak and Roger Sherman.

There have, of course, been adverse criticisms concerning the choice of program materials. For the people who want more church music, Appleton still has some good church choirs. For those who think the program was too stiff, there is always the radio. It seems significant that the people who make the loudest objections to the program know the least about music.

Office for Faculty Added in Main Hall

In another step toward the complete modernization of Main hall, the college has installed a faculty office complete with secretary, telephone, and lounge. This office, which is at the head of the stairs on the second floor was originated in order to give the members of the faculty a place in which to make phone calls or to have their work typewritten by the stenographer.

The telephone number for the new office is 7022. This office, it has been announced by the administration, is not for student use and use of the telephone is forbidden.

Fine Arts Club Seeks Background Organization to Visit Banta Press at Next Meeting

The Fine Arts club which has been organized under the guidance of A. F. Megrew has set its aim and purpose to find the cultural background of Wisconsin. Its activities include the inspection of many institutions and hearing as a group, outside speakers discuss their particular hobbies. The club, which meets once a week, comprises fifteen members, with Katherine Kendrick as president, and Adine Clare as secretary.

On Wednesday, February 15, Miss LaTourette Stockwell entertained the members of the club. In addition to addressing them on her hobby, a collection of Chinese art, she showed them rare pieces from her collection. Among these choice articles were pieces of Chinese cloisonne, dating back as far as two or three hundred years. The process of its making was explained and contrasted with Japanese cloisonne. Also, an interesting piece of Chinese pewter ware and a lacquer tea caddy were inspected. A beautiful Indian Kashmir shawl was also discussed because of its beauty and close resemblance to Chinese art. Examples of Chinese painting were revealed in two charming copies of ancestral portraits. A two hundred year old silk Mandarin coat illustrated the great development of Chinese textiles and embroidery. To complete the Chinese atmosphere, Miss

Socrates a member of the degenerate Mediterranean race, Socrates points out that the German allies, the Italians, are members of that same "degenerate" race, and Hitler states that his friendship for Mussolini is only a temporary political expediency anyway.

When Hitler adds, "We Germans are the only pure Aryans, and are destined to rule the world," Socrates challenges his statement and points out his uncertain Austrian ancestry.

Socrates Angers Hitler

Hitler breaks into a rage and threatens to shoot Socrates, but Socrates reminds him that he can't shoot a shade. He tells Hitler he would like to know more about what is meant by "pure race." When Hitler replies that it means "simply unmixed and unadulterated blood, which is true only of us Germans," Socrates describes the hopeless mixing of all human races and that the pure Nordic race is a myth. Hitler threatens to send Socrates to a concentration camp, and Socrates taunts him with the question, "Isn't your real complaint against the Jews, that their struggle against persecution made them so well endowed that you Germans cannot successfully compete with them?"

Hitler Scorns Anthropologists

When Socrates tells the German leader of the finding of anthropologists, he has to define the term for Hitler has never heard of anthropologist. He continues that in a sense anthropologists are true successors, "for they spend their entire time proving to me that they are far less wise and civilized than they claimed to be. Hitler, however, does not care about them and forbids them come to his country."

Hitler again breaks into a rage when the Greek philosopher points out the decline in German culture through the elimination of notable scholars and scientists. When Socrates finally asks if it is true that as the American mayor La Guardia alleged, that he wasn't even good house painter, Hitler awakes in rage and shoots, and the Shadow of Socrates vanishes in the dawn.

Trever Gives Dialogue Before Appleton Rotary

A. A. Trever, professor of history, gave an imaginary dialogue between Adolph Hitler and Socrates at the meeting of the Appleton Rotary club on Tuesday noon, February 21. He had previously given it before a Lawrence convention.

Flu Isn't Cause for Scarcity In Social Program--It's Just One of the All-College Dances

IT IS A MOOT QUESTION whether there is too much rugged individualism rampant in the world today, but there is one place where ruggedness would be appreciated at the moment, and that is right here on our own campus. A little more ruggedness, or a little more spin, or a few more rubbers and galoshes might help the situation at present. We can't let things go on like this. Why, what will happen to our social program? Or from the looks of this column, what has already happened to it? Oh, now I remember! It isn't the flu that is causing this scarcity; it's just one of those All-college dances that always manages to make a rather large hole in the other social news.

The Alpha Chi Omega "crumbs" are now under orders—with no eating permitted. No favoritism shown, not even to "college-bred" crumbs who are in the dough. And let one of them show any rust; will they get toasted!!

Jane Houts will again swing the reel for the Kappa Deltas, while Ruth Glass will continue in the capacity of vice-president. Marion Schmidt was chosen secretary, and Mary Doerfler will have the gratifying (?) job of haunting her sisters for that so-necessary monthly payment of dues.

Election of Officers

Congratulations go to Grace Strong, who has just been elected president of Delta Gamma. The other officers are: vice-president, Helen Pedley; recording secretary, Dorothy Martin; corresponding secretary, Ruthellen Pelton; and treasurer, Marg Mansfield.

On Saturday evening activities and pledges of Sigma Alpha Iota and their guests enjoyed an informal party at the Conway. Dancing to Woody Bleick's orchestra, playing pingpong, Chinese checkers, and drop-the-handkerchief furnished the entertainment. Mr. and Mrs. LaVahn Maesch and Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Glockzin were chaperones and other members of the conservatory faculty were guests.

Initiated

On Sunday afternoon, February 19, Sigma Alpha Iota initiated Janet Flewell, Virginia Johnson, and Mollie Griebenow.

On February 14, Vivienne Holloway became the bride of Norman Reinhardt of Lafayette, Indiana, at the home of the bride's parents in Green Bay. Vivienne was a senior in the Lawrence conservatory and a member of Sigma Alpha Iota. A number of Lawrentians went to Green Bay for the wedding. Janet Flewell, accompanied by Phyllis Gebro, sang "Ave Maria" and "Because". A trio consisting of Elwin Wiendand, Edwin Shannon, and Milton Nelson played during the evening.

Congratulations, Bill!

The new officers of Phi Delta Theta: elected Monday evening, February 20 are as follows: president, Bill Hatten; warden, Donald MacRae; secretary, Joe Morton; chaplain, Elmer Bosserman; apprentice comptroller, John Backman; steward, Joe Graf.

Phi Delta Theta announces the pledging of Spud Siekman and David Spaulding.

The Phi Taus are getting ready for the bowling season by holding a bowling party for Friday evening, February 24, just for themselves, so that no one will know how good they are.

REVIEWING the REVIEWS

With "Tubby" Holt

COMING to the Rio this Friday is Mickey Rooney, starring in "Huckleberry Finn". It is Mark Twain's story of the boy who lives the carefree life all boys have wished to have since mothers first started insisting on clean necks. Exciting, idyllic, stirring—it is a picture you will want to see. Mickey Rooney, as Huck, plays the role with all the expression and feeling he gave to that of Andy Hardy. Walter Connolly, as the King; William Frawley, as the Duke; and Rex Ingram as Jim, the negro slave; are all perfectly suited to the characters they portray. You've read the book, so I needn't tell the story—now see it come to life on the screen.

With "Huckleberry Finn" at the Rio is "Persons in Hiding", a true story written up by J. Edgar Hoover. It is the tale of a woman who turned a small-time crook into a big time killer in order to satisfy her love for luxury. Patricia Marison, Lynn Averbach, and J. Carroll Nash take the leading roles and produce a picture which is horrifying—yet true.

"THEY Made Me A Criminal" comes to the Appleton this weekend with John Garfield in the lead. It is the story of a prize fighter who is framed on a murder charge and escapes to California where he is discovered by a clever detective when he volunteers to fight a barnstorming boxer. I don't know the ending, and neither do you, but it's bound to be exciting. Also in the picture are the "Dead End Kids", once more in a tough, yet sympathetic role. If you like excitement, by all means see "They Made Me A Criminal." You'll get plenty.

Hen Sessions Taboo as Sage Women Stage Contract Tourny

By Grada DeMore

There are two kinds of bridge players. One believes firmly in counting everything that has been played. This eliminates surprises, and is a convenient way of making a bid; but it necessitates silence and concentration. The other has a fair idea of where the trump is, but she plows merrily along through her bridge game, having a good talk at the same time. This is the more eventful game of the two, sometimes resulting in trump on partner's ace, or at most, harsh words.

Now, the Sage dwellers spend their time playing CONTRACT.

Ormsby Has Spring Formal on April 15

At a combined Ormsby-Peabody house meeting Saturday noon, April 15, was set for the Ormsby spring formal to be held again this year at Ormsby hall. Plans were also made for an informal dancing party to be held on the night of the Sage gals' formal, March 4.

A vote was taken concerning hours, and the majority voted to continue with all ten o'clocks and two eleven o'clocks a month. Jean Hubbard was elected head proctor.

'Mode Espagnole' by Percy Fullinwider Gaining Popularity

Percy Fullinwider, professor of violin and director of the Lawrence Symphony orchestra, is rapidly gaining recognition as a composer of violin works. His "Mode Espagnole", which was played here on last year's Artist series by Stephen Hero, violinist, has been heard on concert programs in many cities this year. When it was played in Detroit this season, the audience liked it so well, that it had to be repeated twice before the program could be resumed.

Mr. Fullinwider studied composition with Louis Victor Saar at the Cincinnati College of Music where he spent four years. In addition to the "Mode Espagnole" he has written a "Bereuse" and "Romance" for violin and piano. He has also arranged many works for string orchestras and small ensembles.

As a result there was a mighty tournament last Saturday afternoon in the 'Rec' room, at which time sixty contract-ers gathered for an orgy (a twenty-four hand bridge game) of their favorite indoor recreation. It was a grueling grind! No merry chatter here, interspersed with carefree discards. Rather it was a quiet affair, very serious, too; composed mainly of dealing, bidding, and concentration; and colored by a lady-like restraint of feelings. But there was one grand slam, made but not bid, that caused weeping and wailing and the eternal reproach, "Why didn't you raise me?" There were occasional cheers as someone made a bid after hard going, and occasional groans for vice versa. Complicated figuring about scoring for 'two down, doubled and vulnerable' necessitated the use of scoring tables.

Sage took its Contract seriously that afternoon. Reason: there were prizes! After revival by food and drink, the contestants settled back for the awards. Couple Ruth Schroeter and Eleanor Nisen scored highest, and won prizes of a compact from Bellings and a gold cross from Marx. Second, with two pairs of ankle socks for each, were Marcie Hahn and Peg Lester. The donor of the ankle socks was anonymous. Booby prizes went to Jane Mockly and Abby Sutherland, and the prizes were a flat-fifty from Johnston's and a phonograph record from Zuelke's.

Miss Wiegand drew for the winners of the door prizes. Cathie Helmer won a sweater from Frank's and Virginia Drolshagen received lipstick from Ford-Hopkins. Seeing as how there were more prizes donated than used, there's going to be another tournament in the near future. Credit for the success of the tournament goes to Betty Younger, Betty Woodall, Helen Glennon, and Virginia Richardson.

And, best of all, Sage is carrying out her alma mama's tradition of "Light, more light." The proceeds from the tournament go to buy lamps for the 'Rec' room.

Can Lawrence Social Program Lack Something?

WHEN a group of representative upperclass women met recently to discuss the problem of why women drop out of Lawrence at mid-semester, the major conclusion reached was that these women felt that they were being denied a very important part of a normal social life; that is, that Lawrence men simply were not dating them frequently enough.

Perhaps the obvious solution would be to make an appeal to the males to indulge in more of the social pastimes, for when the numbers of men and women enrolled are as nearly equal as they are at Lawrence, it cannot be contended that there is a lack of men.

Males Undoubtedly Want Dates Too

But there is no justification for believing that the Lawrence male is deliberately sitting in his fraternity house at night playing cribbage to gain the feeling of superiority and power which might come from the realization that some woman is sitting in her dormitory room because he, at whose every whim she should respond, doesn't feel like having a date. Nor can it be that these women do not have that certain intangible thing that draws men in droves, for many find themselves turning down dates at home and elsewhere.

It seems safe to say that the average Lawrence man is just as anxious to have dates as is the Lawrence woman, and also that it is not a lack of feminine appeal that causes his inactivity. There is another factor involved, and that undoubtedly is the financial one. Even a very cursory survey will show that in general it is the man who must watch his dimes and quarters who isn't giving the women the break they deserve, rather than the man who needn't worry about finances.

Social Program Is Hard One to Beat

In the obvious aspects of a social program, Lawrence boasts one which is hard to equal. All-college dances monthly with big orchestras including such names as Joe Saunders and Charlie Agnew; a spring prom with lavish decorations and a big name orchestra; weekly hour frolics—a system providing all this for a five dollar social fee is hard to find. But there are still some thirty evenings in a month, and of these, perhaps five are taken care of by this social program, if you count frolic nights. There are very few possibilities for the remaining evenings. A movie means an outlay of at least 80 cents at the very start; certain night spots offer dancing but even they are too far distant; and a couple can't very well sit a whole evening over two cokes in the usual student rendezvous.

It becomes obvious that it is difficult for Lawrence men to maintain any sort of social life without an appreciable outlay of money. And we have no doubt that Lawrence women are just as willing to spend an inexpensive evening, but they become the hapless victims of the same circumstances. Perhaps we could revert to former Lawrence days when "gentlemen were not to associate with the ladies under any pretext" and thus solve the problem. Other colleges have found the solution in a student union building where informal dancing and light fountain lunches are provided at very low cost.

It is a pertinent problem which Lawrence college must solve immediately.

Wriston Against Sweeping Revision in Education

"Democracy and its hazardous position form no basis for a 'new' educational program. Better educational foundations are certainly needed, but they can be built steadily; no complete break with old procedures is required." President Henry M. Wriston, Brown university, votes against a sweeping revision of educational policies and procedures.

Reds

Always a sure-fire publicity measure for attention-seeking politicians, calling U. S. colleges and universities "red" and "communists" is again fast assuming an important role in state legislative councils. Investigations have already been proposed in Oklahoma and Colorado, and one is brewing in Ohio under the sponsorship of the American Legion.

Though most institutions admit that their students learn about isms in the classroom so that they can know what is going on in the world, most of them vociferously deny that these isms are advocated as a form of government better than U. S. democracy. The polls of student opinion and the views of student writers and speakers certainly prove that the great majority have no faith in isms of any kind. On the other hand they actively defend one ism—Americanism—and they do it with strong words and clear-cut actions.

Here's what representative students have to say about the "red" inquiries:

"Democracy has nothing to fear by comparison. Only when we have no contrasting government do we become unimpaired of the advantages of our own system. Free speech is the safety valve which allows for the dissipation of anarchistic energy and gives us that change to compare our own country with more restricted ideologies. It is the safety valve that would be destroyed if the Legion succeeds in its attempt to destroy the harmless pink shadow."—Miami university "Student."

"Every year or so some of what William Allen White calls 'hard-boiled young guys who like swashbuckling around in Sam Browne belts at the state meetings' take it upon themselves to save America for democracy. Last year, the stigma of communistic sentiment was on Kansas university. Now the smoke has blown away and we hardly remember the fire. Predictions are that the same thing will happen in the case of the Oklahoma purge."—Southern Illinois Teachers college "Egyptian."

Planes

The sale of U. S. war materials to foreign nations, brought out into public debate by the crash of a plane being tested before sale to France, has the nation's collegians divided in opinion on foreign policy as clearly as it has the rest of the U. S. public.

However, most collegians feel that if the move will bring the U. S. into an alliance that will eventually force us into a war, they are against sale of war supplies. They do feel that such sales should not be kept secret.

The George Washington university "Hatchet" believes that the President should back up his declaration that "We are against any entangling alliances," by selling arms to all nations. "If he maintains that principle until the end of his present term he will undoubtedly go out of office a far more popular man," the editorial said.

On the other hand, the University of Kansas "Daily Kansan" believes with many others that President Roosevelt should clarify his foreign policy. "Until the president takes secrecy out of his foreign policy and explains what it is, 'mistaken impressions' and 'deliberate lies' will persist. The President can, if he desires, eliminate other rumors before they start by a definite clarification of his policy."

Many maintain, however, that the sale of planes aligns the U. S. and other democracies. "Evidence that the President intended the sales to France and Britain to be indicative of an alignment with them is seen by those who maintain that the President went over the heads of the War and Navy departments in sanctioning the sales. A survey of the administration foreign policy leaves little doubt that the President favors active cooperation with the democratic states of Europe," affirmed the University of Minnesota "Daily."

A broader implication is seen by the Harvard university "Crimson": "Isolationist senators who picture economic support of France—symbolized by presidential approval of the sale of some 600 airplanes—as leading the American people down the road to war, ignore America's stake in the peaceful resolution of European difficulty. Realistically speaking, it is futile to talk of isolation. Inescapable is the conclusion that America, by reinforcing positive resistance to the totalitarian states, is promoting in the only practical way possible her own peace and security."

In The Doghouse

THE boys at the Phi Delta house have had a hard time keeping loose papers on their desks with Tom Gettelman flying in and out, arriving and leaving for Milwaukee. It seems he passed cigars because of a young lady from Vancouver. The high school sweetheart came home, consequently Tom has been commuting daily through ice, and snow, and dark of night.

We wonder whether it's true the flu epidemic at Beloit kept the swimming team from performing against the Blue and Gold Saturday afternoon. Rumor had it two of the relay team were still in the tank at Milwaukee State Teachers finishing out their laps. They'll be two sorry boys if they get back just in time to find that Lawrence has been closed because of its own epidemic.

The girls are feeling the least bit superior now that the boys' "smut" class has gotten only as far as the bees and the flowers, and recently up the scale to the salmon and the beaver. One of the classes on the rodent and his romance inspired one of the more sensitive boys to write this tribute to the rabbit:

"A wabbit has funny face,
His pwivet life is a disgwace.

If oo but knew
The things they do—
And often, too."

On seeing the unending stream of woe-begone humans going in and out of the infirmary, three vagrants waited patiently in line until they were up to the door, only to find out the Salvation Army is on Morrison and North streets.

We see by the papers that Illinois U. has its troubles, too.

Offhand comment has it that the boys at Brokaw Arms are composing an "I am a Woman Hater and Forty-seven Reasons Why" articles in answer to a similar article by Marion Phillips of Michigan university, printed in the Doghouse last semester. We hope the boys don't lose their courage. In fact, we are anxiously awaiting their offering.

"It is far better that the college youth of America are hailing band leaders than heiling bund leaders."—Comedian Eddie Cantor.

Vikings Battle Ripon There Tonight

Upset Hopes High Despite Redmen's Superior Height

Vike Opponents Still in Contender's Position In Midwest

Ripon Redmen, still in a contender's position, will be the next opponent for the hapless Vikes. The Redmen have won five and lost two, while Lawrence has lost six straight since winning once. The game is down at Ripon tonight, February 23.

The big gun for the Ripons is Dayle Balliet, 210 pound guard, who takes up all the space under the backboards, and boasts a deadly eye for the basket, besides. Ripon's scoring is spread out among several other players, and the whole team is dangerous. Rollie Horky, of football fame, is also potent on the basketball floor. Millan Bloecher, sophomore forward, is dropping in a lot of points. Larson, Olson, and Gatzke are other regulars who boast a lot of their title and ruggedness.

That handicap of size is going to be a big thing for Lawrence to overcome. The Vikings average less than six feet in height and about 150 pounds per man in weight, while Ripon's men average well over the six foot mark.

No one is very optimistic about the outcome of this contest, but you can't tell about a basketball game, and it might be worthwhile to drop down to Ripon tonight, only 40 miles, and hope for an upset.

Probable lineups:

Scheuss	F	Horky
Jackson	F	Bloecher
Masterson	C	Johnson
Buesing	G	Balliet (capt.)
Faleide	G	Gatzke

Barrows to Speak at Final Forum Meeting Of Chamber March 7

President Thomas N. Barrows will be the speaker at an Appleton Chamber of Commerce forum meeting Tuesday noon, March 7, in the Conway hotel, it was announced today.

The forum meeting will be the final one of the winter series sponsored by the chamber to which members of the city's service clubs, Lions, Kiwanis, and Rotary, are invited.

Dean Frank O. Holt, head of the extension division of the University of Wisconsin, spoke at the last meeting. Joseph Koffend is chairman of the committee which arranges the meetings.

HESELTON SPEAKS
Bernie Heselton, Lawrence football coach, was the speaker at the annual fathers and sons banquet at the First Congregational church in Menasha on Tuesday night.

SPORTLIGHT

Lawrence college cagers have gained the doubtful distinction of having the lowest offensive average of any school in the Midwest conference, 29 points per game. Defensively, they rank sixth, with an average of 35.8 points.

Carleton leads offensively, with 43.4 points, but trails defensively with 42.2 points. The best record is held by the defending champions, Monmouth, who rank first defensively and second offensively.

Offensive		Defensive
	Ave. per game		Ave. per game
Carleton	43.4	Monmouth	30.4
Monmouth	39.2	Beloit	30.8
Cornell	38.0	Cornell	33.25
Ripon	37.3	Ripon	34.0
Knox	35.9	Knox	35.1
Beloit	33.8	Lawrence	35.8
Coe	29.5	Coe	41.3
Lawrence	29.0	Carleton	42.2

Lake Forest's star football guard, 195 pound John Biolo, of Iron Mountain, Michigan, has been signed by Curley Lambeau of the Green Bay Packers. Lambeau is counting on Biolo to fill a regular berth on his 1939 team.

Tonight, as we go to press, Charlie Gerlach is boxing in the finals of the Green Bay Golden Gloves contest in the 175 pound class. The former Lawrence athlete fought his way to the finals last year, too, where, handicapped slightly by a broken hand, he was knocked out by Frank Duket of Marinette.

Monmouth and Knox will have played that decisive game by this time. If Monmouth won, they have a strangle hold on the championships again this year. If Knox upset them, Ripon is still in the running, as well as Knox and Monmouth.

Wisconsin Defeats Viking Wrestlers

Heinke, Hobbs, Heinke Win Decisions for Lawrence

Lawrence college grapplers dropped a hard-fought match to the U. of Wis. "B" squad wrestlers Monday, February 20. Good sportsmanship was displayed by the University matmen at Madison.

Chuck Hobbs, Bill Owen, and Mel Heinke were the only Blue wrestlers to gain victories. Hobbs pinned his man in the 135 pound class, while Owen in the 155, and Heinke in the 165 won on points.

Ottman, Dykes, Oliver, and Rothe lost on points to the Cardinal men. Joe Dassing was pinned. The team had a meet with the strong Neenah High school squad last night.

Denney and Hotchkiss Named Cage Officials

A. C. Denney, Lawrence basketball coach, and George Hotchkiss, former University of Wisconsin player and coach of the Oshkosh All-Stars, will be tournament officials for the District Class B tournament which will be held in the Menasha High school gymnasium March 8-11. The assignments were made by P. F. Neverman, secretary of W. F. A. A.

Losing Streak Is Unbroken; Beloit Tips Vikes 34-23

Flu - Crippled Vikings Stay in Running Till End

Lawrence was handed its sixth conference defeat Saturday night, 34-23. The Vikings stayed in the ball game until midway in the second half when they faded. The score at half-time was 15-8, Beloit.

Led by rangy Joe Tamulis, veteran center, who scored thirteen points on five buckets and three free throws, the Beloit Blue Devils presented a very smooth offensive that was difficult to stop. The Blue Devils had a tall squad and consequently captured a large share of the rebounds off of the backboards. Add to this the fact that the Beloit cagers hit a very good percentage of their shots and you are able to account for their victory.

Flu Crippled Vikings

The Vikings played good ball, but one must realize that three of the boys were not in top physical shape because of the flu. Faleide, Buesing, and Scheuss all were crippled with the same disease. For the Lawrence cagers, Bill Masterson was the only fellow who scored with any consistency; he scored three hookshots and one gift shot for a total of seven points.

Big Roy Campbell, Beloit forward, opened the evening's scoring with a free throw. Tamulis made the count 2-0, but Jackson potted a dribble-in shot to even the score. Smith dropped in a short bucket from the side, Tamulis netted a rebound, and Scheuss sank a charity toss to make it 6-3, Beloit. The remainder of Vike points during the first half were accounted for by Scheuss, who converted a two pointer. Masterson dropped in two foul tosses to bring the Vike total to eight. Tamulis was instrumental in bringing

Turnout in Women's Sports Is Excellent; 63 Girls are Entered

This year continues to be a record breaker so far as turnout in women's sports is concerned, with a total of 63 girls on the seven basketball teams. The Intramural team this year is being played as an elimination tournament which, at present, is about halfway completed. The seven captains are Ruth Held, Ruth Ragland, Marg Carpenter, Virginia Drolshagen, Adine Clare, Jean Doerr, and Betty Morrison.

Incidentally, speaking of records, you perhaps haven't heard that the latter two girls above named, namely, Jean Doerr and Betty Morrison, have just received those swank "L" sweaters you've seen them wearing lately, (awarded them by W.A.A. at their annual banquet last spring.) These two girls have been conspicuously outstanding in athletics during their four years, and are both members of Women's Numeral club.

Vikes Will Compete In Triangular Meet

A triangular meet between Lawrence, Beloit, and Milwaukee State Teachers swimmers and wrestlers, is planned for Saturday, February 25, at Alexander gymnasium. A meet with Beloit was scheduled for last weekend, but was cancelled because of the influenza epidemic.

This meet may possibly meet the same fate if the flu epidemic continues.

Life Saving Instruction Will Begin This Week

Life saving classes for both men and women will be started this week. Practice sessions and instruction leading to the ranks of senior and examiner will be open at two o'clock on Mondays and Wednesdays for girls and five days a week for boys.

'Isms' Propaganda Felt Mainly in Eastern Colleges

Student Opinion Surveys Publishes Results Of Third Poll

Communist, socialist, and fascist propaganda among college students is being felt mainly in the East Central and Middle Atlantic states. This is shown by a nation-wide poll taken by the Student Opinion Surveys of America just as the Dies committee ended its investigation of un-American activities and started making preparations for another.

The committee questioned professors of a New York college and other witnesses when it directed its search for propaganda to the college and university ranks of the nation. What these people have seen and heard went into the record—but what about the views of the students themselves who are now supposedly being besieged with a multitude of "isms?"

The Student Opinion Surveys of America for the first time point out what the collegians have to say in all sections of the country. Although when the results are taken nationally one student in every ten says there has been some attempt to influence him, the poll reveals that student bodies in the West and South are very seldom approached with such propaganda.

A staff of interviewers have asked this question to a carefully selected cross-section of students of all descriptions: "Has any attempt been made on your campus to influence you with communism, socialism, or fascism?" By geographical sections, they have answered:

Percentages	Yes	No
New England	8.2	91.8
Middle Atlantic	19.5	80.5
East Central	12.3	87.7
West Central	4.2	95.8
Southern	5.2	94.8
Far Western	5.8	94.2

In the West Central, Southern, and Far Western states, it is noted influence almost negligible. But when all the results are pooled for the entire country, the sections with much higher percentages raise the total figure of "yes" answers to 10.5 percent.

And how are these students being affected? They name personal contact with other students as the most frequent way, and in addition name class discussions, invitations to meetings, printed material, and professors who, as a University of Minnesota freshman put it, "are so 'progressive' I believe they tend toward communism."

This poll, like all others conducted by the Student Opinion Surveys, attempts merely to sound out student thought. Perhaps students are unaware of propaganda. Perhaps their individual definitions of the "isms" differ. But their answers about represent what all American college youth responds to the question, and should not be construed to mean that one-tenth of the students have actually been influenced. The Survey points out only that one-tenth has felt attempts of propaganda.

At the opening of the second half the Vikes unleashed a brief flurry of points, but this did not last. Zimonick, Beloit guard, shot his team out in front again when he dropped in three successive long shots. The Viking defense lagged a bit, and as a result the Blue Devils drew away, the final result being 34-23.

Lawrence registered five of 11 free throws, while Beloit counted on eight of 15 attempts. The game ended with reserves of both teams in the game.

University of Life Plans Sleigh Ride

Schumaker Will Sing Solo at Worship Service

A student conducted worship service will, as usual, open next Sunday's University of Life meeting. Duane Schumaker will sing a solo, and Molly Griebenow will be the accompanist.

The "Beliefs That Matter" group is not holding its discussions according to any set plan this semester, but any valid argument or problem that presents itself is taken up by the group.

The "Courtship and Marriage" group is proving to be very popular, with all members actively participating in the discussion.

Father Gerard will be the guest speaker for Mr. T. S. Kepler's group, his subject being "Catholicism."

Following the discussions, a gala sleigh ride will be held. Such an unimportant matter as the weather will not interfere, for the sleigh ride will be changed to a hay ride if there is no snow.

Hamar House Again Discussed at Meeting Of Executive Group

Discussion on the Hamar house situation was carried on in the executive committee meeting on Tuesday, February 21. Plans were made for future action on the problem.

The committee discussed changing the election of the student body president from the fall to the spring, but took no definite action. Ray Chadwick, John Hastings and Bob Smith were appointed as a committee to investigate the possibility of giving financial aid to foreign student refugees. Treasurer Bill Hatten presented the financial reports.

Debate Team Starts With Bang—Black Eye Appears on Mitchell

By Kay Tuchscherer

The debate team certainly got off to a good start. In fact, one might say with a bang, because early Friday morning after having spent the night in Milwaukee, Mr. Mitchell appeared with a black eye! That's really going to some lengths to prepare for a debate, but a debater has to have his fighting clothes, and Mr. Mitchell was probably demonstrating. The rest of the debaters stepped (under-estimated—they flew!) into the scene then to catch the train to Whitewater where the contest was to be held.

There were eleven schools represented, raising the population of Whitewater by 80, one-fourth its original size. Our affirmative, composed of Howard O'Donnell and Les Larson, only had one encounter on this day, while the negative, Marjorie Smith and Betty Schoenmaker, battled twice to uphold gold "pump-priming." For those of you who are interested, pump-priming is the government's spending of public funds to stimulate business. Now we know that judges should not be prejudiced but they do give decisions for the queerest reasons. For example, the second affirmative talked about politicians as, "liars, damned liars and statisticians." Said judge No. 1, "I liked the spirit shown and therefore gave the decision to the affirmative." Said judge No. 2, "Profanity isn't an argument—the decision goes to the negative."

But it takes more than a loss to dampen the spirit of debaters, and with little or no "pumping" they trooped over to the dance held in their honor that night. Later—much later—wary fact-filled heads hit the pillow at the home of one of our own Lawrentians, Sally Johnson. It's nice to have friends wherever you go!

Saturday appeared like lightning and once more the battle of wits. By noon it was all over with a 50-50 decision for each of our teams. They had won from Wisconsin, Whitewater, Carroll and Oshkosh, and had lost to Platteville Normal, Ripon and Augustana. The latter was the conference champion. It was lots of fun, tho', and the team returned happy and light-headed.

As to the future for the debate teams—well, I guess Mr. Mitchell didn't have enough with one black eye because he is pitting Edith Geittman against Quentin Barnes.

Charter Membership Of Camera Club Is 23 Students and Faculty

Varied were the activities of the Camera club at its meeting Tuesday evening, February 21. It was decided that the charter membership roll would consist of the following 23 students and faculty: Roger Sherman, instructor in fine arts, S. F. Darling, professor of chemistry, W. Paul Gilbert, assistant professor of physics, Adrian Godschalk, college electrician, Jane Bisping, Jack Brand, Tom Gettelman, Leonard Graf, Franklin Kershaw, James Orwig, Ruthellen Pelton, Ruth Perry, Helen Phillips, Nels Rasmussen, Charles Scheuss, Robert Schockley, Ben Seaborne, Harold Spengler, Kay Steen, Eleanor Stadtmueller, George Verbeck, James Whitford, and Carroll Zabel.

After delving into the intricacies of the modern motion picture camera, the members of the club transferred their activities to the Ariel office where everyone took pictures of everyone else taking pictures. New camera literature was also discussed.

Most Coeds Think Bright Socks on Boy Friend 'Just Darling' but Scorn Baggy High Water Pants and German Hair-Cuts

Bright socks are "just darling," and so are pipes and tweed suits, said a representative group of Lawrence college co-eds when they were interviewed recently on the subject of college men's clothes and social behavior but they protested unanimously against "high-water" pants that end four inches above the ground, dirty fingernails, audible gum chewing and cigars.

"But pipes are nice," they agreed. "They look so homely." Others said they liked them because they look collegiate.

Among the girls interviewed were Betty White, Martha Lyon, Betty Moore, Geraldine Schmidt, Alyce Jane De Long, June Selvy, Beverly Humleker, Abby Sutherland, Catherine Helmer, Muriel Engelland, and Betty Gallup.

Included in the group are freshmen as well as seniors, representatives of each of the six social societies, a member of Mortar Board, honorary society, the art editor of the campus literary magazine, the assistant social chairman of the student body, two student songstresses and others active on the campus.

Want Harmony

They all like the trend toward more color in men's clothes, but such a combination as blue trousers, a green sweater, a checked jacket and an orange tie they call "ferocious."

Colors are nice if they harmonize, the girls say, and they rather like contrasting coats and trousers—if they're not too loud.

But socks are quite a different matter. "The brighter the better," they say. Socks give the boys their one chance to splurge in color, and whether the design is in stripes or plaids, flaming red or bright yellow or whatever they choose, the girls love them.

Most of them, also, were in favor of the pork-pie hats the boys wear far back on their heads, reversible sport coats and thick-soled shoes.

These are some of the things they hate:

"This goo they put on their hair."
"Baggy pants."
"Clothing with food stains on it."
"Dirty fingernails."
"Failing to shave before a dance—it pricks."
"Wearing an athletic sweater that's never been cleaned until it's almost ready to fall off."
"These fellows who chew gum in your ear when you're dancing with them."

Object to Sweat Shirts

They have very definite objections, too, to the sweat shirts which have been seen at the teas given periodically by the Lawrence Women's association. They think it shows very poor taste to say the least, and it is most inconsiderate to the hostess.

"I think it's O. K. for them to come to the teas as they come to class, but they shouldn't wear sweat shirts to class either," one of the girls declared.

Casual clothes are all right for the informal Friday night frolics, they agree, but they abhor the practice of wearing sweaters without a shirt beneath them.

Opinions are divided about business suits at the all-college dances. Some girls feel that if the boys come in day-time clothes the girls should wear street-length dresses, too, instead of formals, as they do now.

A few girls said they were satisfied with the present custom, that a great many boys couldn't afford evening dress and would therefore miss out on the fun. Others, and they seemed to be in the majority, declared that if the dance was formal for girls it should be for men, too, and they preferred tails to tuxedos, unless the man was quite short.

Should Be Dancers

"And will you please say something about their dancing?" they pleaded. "A boy should know more than the square step and the one, two, three, slide. And they shouldn't take such enormous steps, and some of them might learn not to bump into other couples all the time. You'd think some of them danced with their eyes closed. These dancing classes before the Friday night frolics are certainly the thing they need."

It was reassuring to hear from a few other girls that they thought the average Lawrence college male was "a pretty smooth dancer."

The girls are not agreed, either, on the matter of corsages. While most of them favored gardenias or white roses, some of them said they wished the boys would show more originality.

"It's always gardenias," they complain. They suggested, too, that the young man who has original ideas ask his girl ahead of time what color dress she is wearing so that there will be no such sorry sight as pink roses on a red dress.

Other co-eds said corsages were an unnecessary expense.

German Hair-Cuts

German hair-cuts are as removed from corsages as a history exam is from a stroll along the river on a spring night, but the girls leaped easily from one subject to another in their eagerness to air their views.

"I hate German haircuts. They make a boy look all ears, and you can quote me on that," declared June Selvy.

Other opinions were "They look funny on most boys," "They're hard to get used to," "It depends on the boy." "They're nice in summer," and "They're hideous on some fellows." They thought it was an especial tragedy when a boy who had a nice shock of curly hair cut it that way.

"This may sound silly," said one of the girls, "but don't you think some of the boys might pluck their eyebrows a little bit? Not so anyone could notice it—but I don't like eyebrows all straggly in the center of the forehead right over the nose. I suppose they think they'd be sissies to pluck them, but they could do it in the privacy of the bathroom."

They delved into matters of etiquette, too. When a girl asks a man who is not an old friend of hers to a sorority dance, they like to have him arrange a date with her for some day before the dance. Many of them seem to prefer that to a return date later. And most of them would rather be treated as a lady than as a pal that the boys think they can slap on the back.

The co-eds consider it superfluous to say that they despise spats, derbies and canes.

Referring to a recent interview in which a group of college boys made slurring remarks about the disheveled condition of co-eds' coiffures, the girls said in a rather hurt tone of voice that they couldn't understand it. Practically all of them pin their curls up every night. And about mesh stockings. Most of the boys interviewed said they didn't like them, to which one girl had an unanswerable reply. Her Christmas gift from one of the Lawrence boys was a pair of mesh stockings.

Northwestern Hall on 'Sandwich Foundation'

The first building in the world to be erected on a foundation of sandwiches will shortly rise on the campus of Northwestern university.

The building is Scott hall, the new student social center and community auditorium to be erected at a cost of $750,000 as a tribute to President Walter Dill Scott, who will retire next fall. In a very real sense it will be built on a foundation of sandwiches, for a $200,000 Woman's Building fund, which was begun with sandwich sales in 1911, has been turned over to the Scott hall fund by the Woman's Building association.

Determined coeds chose November 29, 1911, as the first of a series of "Sandwich Days" on the campus. On these occasions defenseless male students and faculty member were persuaded by feminine tactics to eat sandwiches for the benefit of a social center for women.

PETTIBONE'S

Pretty Pink Slip Waves O'er Main Hall on College Campus

It was a quiet winter day at Lawrence college last Friday. The snow lay thick under the trees and students criss-crossed the campus to and from classes.

A professor looked out of his study on the peaceful scene. Suddenly, he leaned forward, intently. He riveted his eyes on the flagpole atop proud old Main hall.

"Hmmm," he said to himself. "That doesn't look like a flag to me."

Authorities were called and they held closer inspection of curio undulating in the winter breeze above the academic ramparts. It was a pink slip, they decided. A pink slip like ladies wear.

The janitor was called and ordered to strike the colors. There was very little ceremony. A few grins here and there.

The authorities are not going to hold an investigation. They suggested that perhaps that might be a connection between the fact there were three fraternities "under orders" at that time. This means the pledges had been thrust to the level of "worms" and that anything might happen. Several of the fellows came to school with dolls last week.

Woo-hoo.

Benzedrine Sulphate Retards Mind Action, Minnesota Test Shows

Pep pills retard the speed of learning.

That is the conclusion reached by William L. Minkowsky, graduate student in psychology at the University of Minnesota who, with several white rats as assistants, has just concluded several months of experimentation with the pills.

Each morning for 25 days Mr. Minkowsky injected 1 cc. of benzedrine sulphate, or pep pill solution, into the rats of one group while those of another group continued their regular diet. The rats were then placed in a maze and Mr. Minkowsky recorded the number of errors the animals of each group committed before they were able to find the food at the end of the maze.

Results show that the rats that had not been given injections reduced their number of errors from 14.5 the first day to 1.35 on the final day.

The rats which had received injections, however, reduced the number of errors they committed only from 14.2 to 10.6 during the period. The time required for them to find the food was correspondingly longer than that needed by the first group.

When this part of the experiment had been completed the injections were discontinued for six days. During these six days the number of errors decreased steadily. Errors increased immediately, however, when injections were resumed.

"This is a fairly good indication," Mr. Minkowsky said, "that benze-

Present Dudley In Artist Series

Lawrence Symphony Orchestra to Also Appear March 8

The final concert of the Community Artist series on Wednesday, March 8, will present the Lawrence Symphony orchestra under the direction of Percy Fullinwider, and Edward Dudley, American tenor.

Mr. Dudley, who no longer need worry over finances, was not always in such a fortunate position. At the age of twelve he served as church soloist in a small Ohio town for the sum of one dollar a week. Years later, he was singing in a Florida church at five dollars a week and catching his supper with a fishpole. He tells the story of how he worked in a St. Petersburg hotel as a combination room clerk, elevator man, singer and night clerk.

From these modest beginnings he finally got into radio and soon originated his own program, known as "Deep River". It was while he was here that Morris Gabriel Williams, noted conductor, discovered him and gave him his first chance on the concert stage. From that time on, Dudley's success was assured. He is now on the brink of what promises to be a truly great career.

When he appears here, Mr. Dudley will sing two operatic selections with orchestral accompaniment. One of these will be the Prize Song from Wagner's Meister-singer.

drine sulphate has a retarding effect on learning. However, I don't believe it has any harmful physical effects if taken in moderation. It increases activity but decreases appetitive functions."

It's D--- if You Do, D--- if You Don't, Complains a Coed

Men are what women marry. They have two feet, two hands, and sometimes two wives, but never more than one collar or one idea. Like Turkish cigarettes, men are all made of the same material. The only difference is that some are a little better disguised than others.

Generally speaking, they may be divided into three classes. Husbands, bachelors, and widowers. An eligible bachelor is a mass of obstinence surrounded by suspicion. Husbands are of three varieties: prizes, surprises, and consolation prizes.

Making a husband out of a man is one of the highest plastic arts known to civilization. It requires science, sculpture, common sense, faith, hope, and charity, especially charity.

It is a psychological marvel that a soft, fluffy, tender violet-scented little thing like a woman should enjoy kissing a big stubby chin, tobacco and bay-rum scented thing like a man.

If you flatter a man, it frightens him to death, and if you don't it bores him to death. If you permit him to make love to you, he gets tired of you in the end, and, if you don't, he gets tired of you in the beginning.

If you believe him in everything, you soon cease to interest him, and if you argue with him in everything, you soon cease to charm him. If you believe all he tells you, he thinks you are a fool, and if you don't, he thinks you are a cynic.

If you wear a gay color and rouge and a startling hat, he hesitates to take you out, and if you wear a little brown toque and a tailor made suit, he takes you out, but stares all evening at a woman

Autobiography of Edna Ferber Is Placed on Library Rental Shelf

A new book has been added to the rental collection in the Library, a book by one of Appleton's most distinguished authors, Edna Ferber. The title of her book is "A Peculiar Treasure," taken from a Bible verse in Exodus. It is an autobiography. She says in her story that "The soul-baring school of autobiography is more embarrassing for the reader than the writer . . . This, then, isn't a story of my life, written because I am fatuous enough to think that anyone is interested. It is the story of an American Jewish family in the past half-century, and as such is really a story about America which I know and love."

Lawrence college is mentioned in this story when the author decides to take a year's work in French here. Quite frequently she mentions Appleton and how her family prospered here may be called her most dramatic story.

in gay colors, rouge, and a startling hat.

If you are the clinging vine type, he doubts whether you have brains, and if you are a modern, advanced, independent woman, he doubts whether you have a heart.

If you are the silly kind, he longs for a bright mate, and if you are the brilliant and intellectual type, he longs for the play-thing.

If you are popular with other men, he is jealous, and if you are not, he hesitates to marry a wall flower.

Gosh darn these men! And we might also add that: You cannot trust a man I know. A truth I first learned years ago.

Why do I have to check it then With half a dozen different men? But we'll do!
